

Use the Verification of No Income form when:

- You have no income. It explains how you are living when you have no way to pay any bills yourself.

Use the Employer Verification form when:

- You just started a new job and don't have 4 pay stubs yet.
- You lost your last 4 pay stubs.
- You stopped working and didn't file an unemployment claim.
- ONLY your employer or former employer can fill it in.

Use the Separation/Divorce form when:

- You are not legally separated, but you have not lived in the same house with your spouse for at least 6 months.
- You have lost your divorce decree or legal separation papers and cannot get a copy.
- This form can only be signed by the applicant.
